Appomattox Nation al Park

Monday evening the Chamber of Commerce got squarely behind the commission which is survey ing the surrender grounds here, and which will shortly report its findings to Secretary of War. The Secretary will no doubt then formulate his recommendations to Congress. Helpful suggestions, hearty co-operation and every courtesy was extended the commission by our people and it is reported that they enjoyed their official visit to the historic battlefields of Appomattox. The commission will meet in Washington to formulate its report shortly.

It is hoped that the commission will be so full and interesting to the government that a National Park at Appomattox will be established Where now thousands of visitors annually come, hundreds of thousands will be attracted here.

Saves Life of Man in Coils of Giant Python

Los Angeles, Calif.—Wrapped in the coils of a giant python that was slowly crushing the life out of his body, Wilbur Watkins, furry, veteran animal trainer, was saved from death by the presence of mind of a small boy recently.

As the enraged reptile wound its body tighter around Westbike, the youth sprang from a group of fear-paralyzed onlookers and thrust a stick of wood down the snake's throat.

The struggle took place at the winter quarters of the Al G. Barnes circus near Culver City.

New York.—A woman can be just as attractive at forty-five as at twenty-five, in the view of Mrs. Theodore Parsons, author. And no girl should marry before twenty-five.

Bank Bandits Kind to "Grandma" in Holdup

Covington, Okla.—Four bandits who looted two banks here, maintained a high standard of etiquette toward the good.

As they forced depositors to the rear of the Covington State bank and scooped up nearly $5,000 in currency, one of the robbers noticed Mrs. Lucy Leroy, seventy, among the customers.

"Did we take any of your money, grandma?" the bandit asked.

Informed he had picked up about $70, representing checks she had cashed, the cashier was ordered to return the checks and tender them later. "Grandma" Leroy was then escorted to a rocking chair in the rear of the bank and told if she kept quiet she would not be locked in the vault with the other customers. She complied.

FAIR NEWS
Edited by L. CRAWLEY

This story is for the children. It isn't a bed-time story, but it tells about a few of the many things the children will be interested in when they visit the Appomattox County Fair, Appomattox, Oct. 13 to 15.

You know, children forget so easily!

We want them to save their pennies so they can enjoy themselves at the fair.

There will be so many things there they will want. It will be much nicer and they will enjoy themselves at the fair much more if they save their pennies and spend their own money.

Oh, yes, there will be plenty of ice cream. Gallons and gallons of cream, flavored with chocolate, varilla and strawberry.

There will be gallons of the pinkiest kind of pink lemonade.

There will be "sodie-water" and pop.

There will be "hot-dog" stands barking on every corner.

There will be boys selling balloons.

There will be boys selling pennants, canes and ticklers.

In other words, it is going to be a "Keen Fair."

And for the grownups we might add that we are all children again when we attend the fair. Come and have a good time. Forget your business and home worries for a few hours. Join the throng of merry-makers.

One-hundred per cent attendance of school children at the Appomattox County Fair is the goal of officials in charge of this year's fair, which will be held from October 13 to 15.

"We must have the children interested in the fair if it is to be successful" says Miss Hardy. "We want the children to view the exhibits, but regardless of whether they enter exhibits or not we want them to attend the fair. There will be many things of interest to them Nearly every educational exhibit has been planned so that it will have a children's appeal. It is the ambition of the fair to educate. We have kept this in mind in building up our program."

The exhibits of school children and the work of boys and girls enrolled in club work will prove a revelation to many visitors. The fair culminates the activities of the club members for the year. To them, the fair is Achievement Day, for they come to demonstrate what they have learned from their club leaders, and compete in the finals of their club contests. The fair management has done its part to encourage the work by offering special premiums.

No department of the fair has grown as rapidly in recent years as boys' and girls' club work. Local bankers and business men have joined with fair officials and club leaders in pushing the various projects in this section Everybody wants to see club work prosper, for, in interesting the boys and girls in cows, pigs, poultry and other club projects, they are interesting them in the problems of the farm.

Fair officials again wish to call the attention of the public to this year entertainment program. It is the most pretentious arrangement by the fair.

All kinds of new and novel attractions have been engaged, and visitors will find this year's fair one of a "Thousand Thrills."

The best harness racing ever offered fans of this section will be one of the many interesting features on the program of the Appomattox County Fair, Appomattox, October 13 to 15.

The complete card, as announced today by Secretary Caldwell, calls for three days of racing.

It is a well balanced card, and with a record breaking field of entries assured, should produce the keenest racing yet seen. Entries will be received not later than October 10.

Purses totaling liberally have been set aside by the fair management, to be split among the winning horsemen.

The Appomattox County Fair track already is in pretty fair condition. A number of locally owned horses have been working out on the track for several weeks.

The management will spend considerable money in dragging, rolling and working the tract between now and fair time. Stables will be cleaned up and renovated.

NOTED TRAMPS PLY ROADS IN SCOTLAND

Aged Woman Says She Never Slept in Bed.

Rannoch Moor, Scotland.—The most picturesque tramps of the United Kingdom are Scotsmen who ply the broad high road which runs along Loch Lomond and across the wild and desolate Rannoch moor to Inverness.

Probably the best known is "Long Jock." For half a century this totally blind mendicant has fiddled his way along the Perthshire roads, accompanied by two dogs. He shares all his meals with the dogs and at night wraps his six-foot tartan plaid about them and himself and sleeps out undegree true.

"Old Johnson" is another. He's a genial fellow in a Balmoral bonnet and tattered frock coat. He has a wealth of humor and is known to be a master of repartee. He has been on the road for 90 years.

Highland tramps, or "tinkers," as they are called around Rannoch moor, speak the Gaelic language. They move in clans and are known by the family names, which often go back for centuries. The oldest member of the clan is the chief and his word is law. They are strict Sabbatarians and will not even blow their bagpipes for alms on Sunday.

One old woman who has been on the tramp in the western highlands for 75 years boasts that she has never slept in a bed. She has brought up a family on the king's highway and wears a wedding ring that has been handed down from mother to daughter in her clan for 900 years.

They have a jolly life. Every five or six miles along the road is a tramp's hotel"—a barn or hut where they can rest for the night or find shelter from the storms. The highland farmers and shepherds know them by name and exchange greetings wherever they meet.

Taxes and bank failures never worry them and at the end there is a tramp cemetery in Strilingshire called "No Man's Land."

CALLING THE HOGS

Fred Pettet of Omaha is the champion hog caller of Nebraska. He's expected to be heard by the judges for three days or more and he has challenged all comers to "a test of skill."

Offer to Flip Coin for $5,000 Judge Stops Him

Kansas City, Mo.—Jesse Vasos wanted to flip a coin for $5,000 in court here, but Judge Guthrie overruled him.

Vasos had been sued for divorce. Settlement of the estate was being discussed. It was decided that Vasos was to get only $5,000 of the property, which is valued at $40,000. "Make it $10,000 or nothing," he said, drawing a coin from his pocket.

Before anything promised in this court," the judge said, Vasos pocketed his coin and the $5,000 and went away. He spied his daughter in a corridor, went to kiss her and broke into tears.

Trappers Use Autos

Seattle, Wash.—Another phase of the passing romance is passing. For the first time Indian trappers in the broad valleys of British Columbia and Alaska have abandoned the snowshoe, trail and canoe route. They are now at work in automobiles.

PORTO RICAN SWAMPS OF VAST AREA FOUND

Ten Thousand Acres That Could Be Redeemed.

New York.—The discovery below sea level of a 10,000-acre swamp in Porto Rico is described by H. A. Gleason, curator of the New York Botanical Garden, who has just completed a survey of the plant life of the island in co-operation with the insular government.

This swamp, now hopeless, could, if redeemed, produce cane worth millions, according to Doctor Gleason, who said that the Porto Ricans, like the Hollanders, may be forced to use dikes, pumps and windmills to reclaim large waste areas.

"Some vegetational features of Porto Rico which probably have no counterpart in the Western Hemisphere were revealed in our explorations," said Doctor Gleason.

"The big swamp lies along the north shore of the City of Arecibo. It is nearly surrounded by some of the most fertile cane fields in Porto Rico. As it is now, it merely stands a vast expanse of eat-tails and sedges, populated by mosquitoes, frogs and waterbirds.

Golfers in Rhodesia Need to Carry Guns

Bulawayo, British South Africa.—What animals from the jungles have been bird-dering golf in Rhodesia. Sharpshooters have been posted on some of the links with the view of shooting away the pesky beasts.

At the Winkle course a rhinoceros has been appearing as a natural hazard, much to the discouragement of the players, while two lions have been seen frequently sauntering about the links in Belra. One of these was afterward shot by the men on outpost duty.

Between Beira and Dondo two grown elephants and a baby elephant tramped onto the main railway line and nearly wrecked a train. One of the animals was killed, and the "elephant" catcher of the 1 ocomotive was smashed.

Most Children Defective

Washington.—Nineteen million out of the twenty-two million school children of the nation are physically defective in some way, and only four million of these have unpreventable defects, the United States children's bureau said in urging physical examinations and good nutrient care.

...ing home to the north shore. Along that north shore a great ridge of sand was piled up by the wind and in the course of time gradually consolidated into rock.

"Then the land began to sink, the ridge of rock was brought down to the level of the ocean, and the waves pounding away at it for thousands of years finally broke gaps in the rock and let the ocean through.

"As a result of this sinking of the land the present swamp is at or even below sea level. Now it is a considerable distance from the end of the swamp to the ocean. Plenty of fresh water finds its way into the swamp, but the salt tides come in only at one end, so that there is a gradual decrease in the saltiness o.

water from its outlet inland.

"So we have at the end of it nearest the ocean the salt-loving mangroves. Beyond them are several hundred acres of achrosticum ferns and several thousands of acres of cat-tails and sedges.

Believes Shore Line Sinks.

"There has been much speculation as to whether the shore line of Porto Rico is rising, stationary or sinking. The present plant life of the swamp seems to give a little evidence in answer to the question. If the shore line were rising the swamp would be getting drier and less salty and the cat-tails would be moving down toward the ogiet. But at present the ferns seem to be moving up into the cat-tails, indicating that the swamp is actually getting saltier and therefore that the shore line is still sinking.

"This, of course, does not imply any immediate catastrophe for the island, as the actual rate of submergence is probably so slow that any important effect would require thousands of years for its consummation.

"The south shore of Porto Rico differs greatly from the north shore in its rainfall. While the latter has 60 to 80 inches every year, the south shore has only half that much, and the climate there is characterized by long periods of drought. A lusty forest growth is impossible."

Jimmie Woolridge has accepted a position in Lynchburg with Craddock Terry Shoe Co as shipping clerk. Good luck to you old James. We will miss you for we were never afraid to call on you to help in anything especially when we said play ball or get up a ministeral.

A short while ago dogs ran down a deer on the farm of Mr. Strat Taylor near Stapleton in this county. It was a fine doe and was caught by its leg as it attempted to get out of creek and is being cared for by Mr Taylor. Arrangements are being made to send it to game preserve, if no city zoo wants it

State prohibition officers raided about 11 p. m., a still in Buckingham county last Friday and captured a large copper outfit, which was drawn in for her by little Miss Frances Caldwell. The first gift was a lovely corsage of Sweetheart roses from the groom-elect and miniature clothes pins and time. Many handsome gifts of linen were received numbering about 100.

The guests enjoyed a contest "How to Manage a Husband" which was arranged on post cards with the picture of Jiggs attached. The answers to this caused much merriment. Mrs. H. M. Burge winning the prize. Then followed a "Jungle Wedding", prizes being won by Mrs. W. M. Thompson and Mrs. R.W. Jamerson.

Delightful refreshments were served by the hostesses.

The following guests were present: Mesdames. A. R. Harwood, H. Lawson, Lottie Bledsoe, M. F. McKinney, Ned Wagers, Harrison Burge, Jerry Burke, Richard Burke, Joe O'Brien, Chas. T. M ses, T. W. Abe G. Childress

Mr. Childress died at hospital in Lynchburg Monday and his remains were interred at Altavista Tuesday. Deceased was 46 years of age and is survived by his widow, who resides here and is proprietress of the Bandana Cabin. He was an expert horse-trainer and went up to Lynchburg to look after his horses for the fair races when he was stricken. About twelve years ago he was in a runaway accident which fractured his skull and his physicians think this the cause of his death. Quite a number of his friends from here attended the funeral.

T. B. Moore, Jr.

This prominent citizen of Stonewall district died at his home this morning in the 74th year of his age. He was a prominent and successful farmer and large land owner. He was almost a life long member of Trinety Methodist Church. Deceased is survived by his widow Mrs. Susie Moore, who is a daughter of late Howlett Martin, and two children; J. C. Moore, Jr. and Mrs. Milton Moore, all of this county. Deceased had been in bad health for sometime, funeral will take place at S. R. Martin cemetery at 2:30 to-morrow, Friday

EVERGREEN

Misses Ida Bell and Myrtle Evans are attending the S. T. C. Farmville.

Miss Ethelyne Lee, who has been spending several weeks with her aunt, Mrs. Browning, Richmond, has returned to her home.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Thomas, Jr., Mr. S. Ransen, Mrs Traverse Lee, and son, and Miss Madian Lee motored to Richmond for the week-end.

Misses Eleanor Ferguson and Lizzie Ranson were week-end guests of their parents.

There seems to be some attraction for one of our young men at Suffolk.

Mr. J. J. Farrar, Lassie Martin, son John, Elvarie Martin, and Elsie Marks motored to Farmville Sunday.

Rev. L. E. Dickerson closed a very successful revival at Harmony School House last Friday.

Our school opened Sept. 16th, with Miss Essie Marks in charge. So far the enrollment is large considering the busy time with farmers.

Showered

The home of Mrs. R. E. Caldwell, Jr., was the scene of a beautiful miscellaneous shower Friday evening honoring Miss Lucile Caldwell, who on Saturday, October 2nd, at Liberty Baptist Church will become the bride of Adoniram Judson Bush. Hostesses for the occasion were Mesdames R. E. Caldwell, Jr., Edward Dinwiddie and C. R. Caldwell. The color scheme was green and gold. At the appointed hour the bride-elect entered and ascended the improvised throne, whereupon rose petals showered upon her from the chandelier. A telegram was handed the bride telling her to look in a certain place in the house and see what she would find, and upon looking there she was directed somewhere else until she had searched the house and finally was directed to the hiding place of a lovely decorated wagon, containing the gifts and which was drawn by her husband. Then followed a "Jungle Wedding", prizes being won by Mrs. W. M. Thompson and Mrs. R.W. Jamerson.

Delightful refreshments were served by the hostesses.

The following guests were present: Mesdames. A. R. Harwood, H. Lawson, Lottie Bledsoe, M. F. McKinney, Ned Wagers, Harrison Burge, Jerry Burke, Richard Burke, Joe O'Brien, Chas. T. M ses, T. W.
